Silent Music.

BY ELLA WHEELER.

Standing to-day by the great church organ,
I thought, how strange; if a thing so grand
Should be forever and ever silent,
Waiting the touch of the master hand;
Never a sound could the strong lungs utter;
Never an echo of melodies,
Unless the fingers of some musician
Should fall on the snowy keys.

And I thought of the heart so like this organ!
Hearts that are aching with silent pain,
Because their strings are burdened with music,
And they cannot utter a single strain,
And the world looks on and never guesses
The sound that would be sweet and grand,
If the waiting keys could only answer
To the touch of the master hand.

Sounds that are sweet as angle's paeans,
Notes as glad as the thrushes sing,
Are hid in these silent hearts forever,
Waiting the master's fingering.
Stern-faced men, and sad-eyed women
Silently walk through the vale of doubt,
Whose hearts are brimming with Heaven's music
But no hand brings it out.

Selected Story.

How I lost my Intended.

I am not a rich man—I never was, and very much fear I never shall be; for, notwithstanding my having Courted and wooed Fortune, that fickle goddess has persistently turned her back upon me. I have often asked myself the question—"What have I done to deserve this treatment?" and have always come to the conclusion that I am the innocent victim of circumstances—still, I am a victim, and find but little consolation in being an innocent one. In proof of this assertion, I will relate how I lost my intended.

Some few years back, it was my chance to be invited to a large croquet party, Of course I went, and being a first-rate player, soon became an object of interest to the fair players, and one of envy to thoes of the sterner sex. Amongst the former was a Miss Sophia Wrenton—a fine handsome girl of about eighteen. She played croquet admirably— almost as well as I did—and was dressed exquisitly. It was a perfect sight to see her walk across the lawn: her golden hair, glitering in the sunshine, escaped in heavy masses from beneath her pretty little hat; her blue satin dress, looped up just high enough to show an exquisite ankle and tiny foot, encased in the daintiest of shoes, that drove one nearly wild, and made me envy the ball she placed it on—(we did not play loose croquet then, but did the old-fashion way of holding the ball tight with the foot.) I played so she might croquet me each time; therefore, I need not say that I lost the game but I was rewarded with a glance that was worth all the games ever known. I led her to a seat—I procured refreshments—I strolled with her round the garden—I made love to her. She listened, and at last informed me that she always took a walk in Hyde Park at 11 A. M. Soon after this the party broke up, and we bade farewell to each other with a gentle pressure of the hand, and a glance that said as plainly as could be —"We part to meet again."

Every morning at eleven o'clock, a tall handsome man, with an extremely long moustache and an aristocratic air, might be seen wending his way beneath the branches of the noble trees that, verdant foliage, shed their shadows over that most celebrated equestrian way, yeleped Rotton Row. Gentle reader' I was that man.

At the same hour, approaching from the opposite direction, a tall handsome girl of about eighteen summers could be observed. Her step has that peculiar elasticity which shows anxiety to reach the beloved object of her search. A gentle flush spread over her peach-like cheeks as she drew near the gentleman before mentioned. That sweet girl was Sophia. We meet, and—— But no; I cannot describe the rapture of our meeting!

Things went on in this way for a couple of months. I found Sophia all that I could wish, and I was all that she desired. She scorned wealth; I was poor and therefore escaped her scorn. She doted on mysteries; I was a complete one—therefore she doted on me. She loved romance; I had a particular reason for romancing. What two people in the world could be more suited to each other?

During our walks I discovered that Sophia hated anything commonplace or low. Thus she would have had no objection to my poverty forcing me to abstain from dinners for a week or a fortnight; but she would have hated me had I dared to mention that I was unromantic hungry, or expressed Mr. Pickwick's desire for "chops and tomato sauce." I also found that I had a rival, but, luckily, a rich one—therefore Sophia scorned him, but at the same time used him to make me jealous and our situation more romantic I muttered his name (which by the way was Jenkens) in deep sepulchral tones that made Sophia tremble. I allowed my hair to grow, loosened my necktie, pulled down the ends of my moustache, and sighed like an American goat-sucker.

Sophia had, on her part, learned my address—indeed, I made no secret of that for it was a good thing—being Bernard Street, Russell square. She thought I had the drawing rooms; I knew I had a back attic, but felt it would not be kind to undecieve her.

It so happened that I had to go to Reading on a small matter of business during the week the races were held at that town. Let not the gentle reader of this sad story imagine that I am a betting man. Banish the thought! And yet if I do indulge a little in matters connected with the turft, dukes have done the same; therefore I need not be ashamed, and ——Well, no matter, let it pass.

My journey to Reading proved unfortunate, and I returned home to my apartments (I always put the "s" in it; it sounds better) a sad, if not a wiser man, my heart full of care—my pockets void of money. Lighting a candle which I found placed ready for me on the umbrella-stand, I crept slowly up stairs to bed, hoping to forget my troubles in sleep. Placing the candle on a chest of drawers which served as a toilet table, I gazed in the glass at my haggard face. The sight was too much for me, and I turned away to find consolation in a flask of spirits that I always kept concealed in a hat box In so doing my eyes fell upon a pretty pink note that had been placed on my table during my absence. I seized it instantly, and tearing it open, found that it was from Sophia, inviting me to dine at her father's. Yes! the dear girl had persuaded her father to allow her to invite me to a dinner party. I have no doubt that it cost her some little violation of the truth, but she had succeeded, and I should see her surrounded with that wealth and luxury which belonged to her, and which I devoutly hoped would soon belong to me. Overcome with pleasure, I blew out the candle, sprang into to bed, and dreamed of white favors, carriages and horses, a balance at my banker's, and Sophia!

The next morning I rose and dressed at the same time indulging in a light breakfast, composed of weak coffee, and one of those small fish for which Yarmouth is so famous, and ruminating over the state of my affairs. They stood thus: I was without money. Sophia's dinner party came off on that evening, and my necessity had compelled me to lend my dress suit to a suppositious uncle. What was I to do? It was true I had a gold watch and chain, but Sophia had admired them, and I did not like to appear before her without them. I sat down and pondered over the situation, and came to the conclusion that there was but one way, and that was to take out my dress suit, leaving my repeater in its place. I would wear the chain, and no one need know I was minus a watch.

The evening arrived; I had completed my toilet, and stood before the glass admiring the fit of my coat, and giving a few final touches to my white cravat, taking my latch-key, I fastened it to the end of my chain, instead of my watch, and fixed it in my waistcoat pocket; I then gathered up the few miscellaneous articles which I had removed from the pockets of my walking suit, and distributed them about my person, taking care that no pocket should bulge out to spoil the perfect set of my clothes, and in a few moments was driving rapidly towards the home of my dear Sophia.

I cannot describe the luxury of old Wrenson's mansion—it was tremendous. The very street door had a rich appearance about it, having two brass knockers on it; the hall was completely furnished the stair-carpets were so thick that I felt as if I were walking on a hat brush. The drawing room was all glass and gold; the curtains of lace, and the chairs and sofas covered with blue silk. I was nearly overpowered with the wealth displayed; but plucking up courage, I entered the room with a graceful bow and a firm eye, that already looked upon this magnificance as partly mine. I did all in my power to ingratiate myself with Sophia's father—a short, fat, pimply, looking man, who breathed heavily through a brilliant nose—and flatter myself that I succeeded, for when the servant announced that dinner was served, Mr. Wrenton desired me to take Sophia down stairs. I saw my rivals look of envy, for he was handed over to a fat old dowager; nevertheless, the wretch managed to be seated next to Sophia, and persisted in joining in the conversation.

The party was a large one, the dinner excellent, and the wines superb. The conversation was general, and turned on traveling; and I was loud in condemning the English railways, comparing them to those of the continent, of which I had a large experience, having had at different times to seek in foreign lands that protection denied me by my own country.

"It may be as you say," said my rival, the horrid Jenkens, "but for my part I prefer the English lines. You get more attention from the officials."

"I am sorry to say that I do not agree with you," I replied, "and I am sure you would own I am right had you been with me when I was going to Marselles; or even more so had you travelled with me to Baden-Baden."

As I spoke I saw Sophia glance at me with pride.

"Things may have altered," said Jenkens; "but I traveled both France and Germany for ten years, when I was junior partner to Print, Calicoe & Co., but never had any civility. that I had not to pay heavily for."

I placed my eyeglass in my eye, and surveyed Mr. Jenkens with a look of contempt, at the same time observing that I traveled for pleasure, not business.

"I didn't," replied Jenkens; "I traveled for the firm, and very well it paid me. One thing you must own; our men are quicker and more correct."

"Not at all," said I, triumphantly, "Only last week I had to go to Reading, and on leaving the train I entered the refreshment room and had a cup of coffee; after which I left the station, forgetting to give up my ticket, as no one asked me for it."

"You must excuse my scarcely crediting that, sir," said Mr. Jenkens. "Are you sure you did not give up the ticket before entering the refreshment room?"

"I am positive of that," I replied, "and to prove what I say is correct, I will show you the ticket, which by chance I have with me."

As I spoke I cast a glance of scorn at Jenkens; then turning disdainfully from him, I took the ticket from my pocket, and gave it to Sophia to pass to him.

Sophia g'anced at it and screamed, and the brute Jenkins at once snatched it from her hand!

"What's this?" he exclaimed.—"This is not a railway ticket, but a pawnbroker's one for a gold watch, £3 10s., Ernest de Vere, 30 Bernard Street, Russell Square, dated to-day."

A titter ran around the room, and I felt sinking through the floor, It was but too true. In mistake I had given him that horrid ticket in memory of my repeater, instead of the railway one. I tried to laugh it off but it would not do. My disguise was seen through, and I was undone.

A week afterwards I read in the newspapers that Sophia had become Mrs. Jenkens—sic transit gloria mudi.

N. B.—I still have that fatal ticket, but will willingly part with it for a trifle.

A Chinaman entered a store in Helena Montana, the other day, and walking up to the counter, deposited a grasshopper thereon, saying, as he gazed upon the clerk with a confiding look: "He too much hoppee—stop him." The obliging clerk at once commenced measuring off mosquito bar, to the intense delight of the heathen. The grasshopper had been destroying his garden, and wanting to purchase some mosquito bar, but not knowing the name of the article, he brought the destroyer with him, and the clerk understood in a moment the article he needed.

When is a match frivolous? When it makes light of things.

Address of Hon. C. L. Cobb

To the voters of the first Congressional District of North Carolina:

My reason for addressing you this circular, arises from the fact that I have been quite sick since the last of May, and thereby unable to give full attention to buisness here, or, to be with my competitor, up to this time, in his canvass of the district. I have been anxious daily to leave here for the distrjct, and my physician advises me, that it is now probable I can leave in a day or two, so as to be in the district next week, when I will convass vigorously until the election. But there is so little time left, that I am obliged to adopt this means to reach the ears of such voters of the district as I shall not be able to see personally.

It is known to you that I have adhered, unwaveringly, to the principles of the Republican party. In this I have, seen no cause to change in any respect. Having been honored by several elections at your hands, I have endeavored to attend strictly to the business of my constituents, in Washington, and to carry out the principles upon which I accepted office at the hands of the people. It is, therefore, not necessary that I should discuss the general principles of the Republican party in this circular. But questions not strictly of a party character have arisen within the last year, involving interests of importance, upon which I desire to say a few words.

CURRENCY.

The panic of last September called attention violently to the unequal distribution of the currency, and a large part of the time of the present Congress has been devoted to the question of a fair adjustment of the same. The people of the South feel universally that they have not equal banking facilities with other sections of the country. It has been my endeavor to see justice done to you in the South. Much has been accomplished in that direction, but not so much as we hoped would be done. I believe, at the next session, that we will be able to do more. Benefits already secured at the late session amount to an increase in the banking facilities of North Carolina of $4,650,000. I believe that a judicious increase of the currency to such an extent as will not impair the National credit, will go a great way in relieving the Southern people of the embarrassments in which they are now involved.

SOUTHERN CLAIMS.

Another subject in which a large class of our people is interested, is that of claims for property taken and used by the United States army during the late war. Being a member of the Committee on War Claims, this matter has been prominently before me, and I have used every effort to have a liberal allowance made to such of our citizens as lost property during the war. Whilst my efforts have not been crowned with complete success, I have reason to congratulate myself upon the improved temper of Congress in this matter, and upon the prospect which now offers of extending the time for the filing of claims and of increasing the jurisdiction of the claims commission, so as to provide for the payment of other articles than are now embraced in the act, and likewise for the use and occupation of real estate. If the Southern people should be paid what is justly due them for what they actually furnished to the United States Government during the war, it would go a great way in relieving them from the financial pressure which is now upon them. Time is mollifying the sentiments of Northern men of both parties upon this question, and I believe, that shortly, a just and generous government will make a full compensation to its citizens for the property which it took from them and used for its benefit.

APPROPRIATIONS.

The expenses of the Government were greatly increased during the war, and it has been an exceedingly difficult matter to reduce them to a peace basis. The efforts of the present Congress in that direction have resulted in an annual saving of millions of dollars to the Government. I have, on all occasions, voted for a curtailment of expenses wherever such reduction was judicious. I have constantly borne in mind the fact, that for many years past, especially before reconstruction was consumated, that most of the appropriations were made for the Northern States, and I felt it my duty, representing a Southern constituency, to claim for my own district such appropriations as I thought would be beneficial to its citizens. I have borne in mind, also, the fact that the mail facilities ought to be increased, and a reference to the Legislation of Congress will show that they have been greatly increased in our district. Light houses and life saving stations have been established on the coast of the first district for which many hundreds of thousands of dollars have been appropriated.

During the present canvass, I learn that much comment has been made upon what is known as the Civil Rights Bill. Misrepresentations of the purport of that bill have been made, and an attempt similar to that which characterized the campaign of 1868 has been made to array the races. There is no purpose on the part of Congress, or any Republican member of Congress, so far as I know, to force upon the people either mixed schools, mixed churches, or social equality. These are matters which naturally regulate themselves. So far as mixed schools are concerned, it must be perfectly apparent to both the white and colored that any attempt to mix the two races would result in an utter subversion of the whole free school system of the State. What was said upon this subject in the progress of reconstruction, did much to alienate two races which ought to be friends. The revival of the same issue now has a tendency in the same direction, and all good men must deprecate it. Those who raise the issue must take the responsibility of the consequences. My own purpose in the past, as it will be in the future, has been to keep out firebrands, and to reconcile the people of both races to the changed condition of affairs. I trust that this purpose will not be frustrated at so late a day by reviving questions which are already settled. The true policy of the Southern people, in my judgement, is to make the best of the situation, to accept things as they are, and to avoid, as far as possible, the raising of issues which may result in keeping us back, and behind the age, for perhaps another generation. It is the part of wisdom to allay enmities, and to cultivate friendship and peace with the citizens of the whole country, without regard to race or locality.

So far as the Civil Rights Bill is concerned, it confers no rights or privileges which are not already guaranteed by the Constitution and the laws of the country. No well informed person questions that equal civil rights and perfect equality before the law, is already secured and guaranteed by the fourteenth amendment to the Constitution. Whether this bill should become a law or not, the interests of the colored people are not effected in any way. All the people of the State, now, have equal rights before the law. These rights they have had for six years past. In all this time no colored man, so far as I know, has asked for mixed schools or mixed churches or social equality. As was said before, these things regulate themselves. The attempts which are now being made to array the races upon these issues are a repetition of what has been done before, and the people are already familiar with them. The Civil Rights Bill is not yet perfected in details, and has not become a law. When it is perfected, I believe there will be no division of sentiment in regard to the propriety of the law, on the part of either white or colored persons.

SALARY BILL.

Much has been said upon the subject of what is comonly known as the "salary grab." I voted for the bill to increase the salaries of members of Congress, from conscientious convictions of right. Acknowledging myself to be the servant of the people, at their behest, I voted to repeal the law, during the present session, but my convictions upon the subject have not changed. Moneyed men, in Congress from the Northern States, have obtained undue influence in the councils of the nation. The moneyed interest would be willing to adopt the rule in monarchical countries, and pay members of Congress nothing; thereby leaving only two avenues by which your legislative halls would be reached: the one open to the rich—the other to the corrupt. A poor man who is honest would then be unable to occupy a seat in Congress, and the legislation of the country would be in the hands of the rich alone.

Any reproach upon those who voted for this measure reflects upon the most honored names in our history, among which are Clay, Webster, Crittenden, and indeed almost the whole list of those great statesmen who have built up the Republic, and whose memories we venerate, For, whenever in the history of the Government there has been an increase of pay of members of Congress, it has contained, and has been attended by all the circumstances surrounding this. The legislature of North Carolina has passed the same measure at almost every session since the foundation of the Government, so far as the principles involved are concerned. The same has been the case with the legislatures of almost every State in the Union. The clamor that is now raised upon this question is in the interest of demagogues, and for the sole purpose of putting out of office those who are now in, and putting in office those who are out and wish to be in.

CONCLUSION.

I have been compelled to prepare this communication to you hastily, on the eve of my departure from this city. I regret that my ill health for the past month has prevented my meeting you in person, and discussing these and other questions in detail before you, and with my competitor, but I shall do so, as far as I am able to meet you in the little time that is left. Necessarily I shall be unable to speak at most of the usual places in the district. At such places as I may be able to reach, I shall discuss these and other questions boldly and elaborately, having no concealments to make, no subterfuge to resort to, and no fear in trusting myself and the cause which I have so long defended in the hands of a people so intelligent and just as the voters of the First Congressional District of North Carolina.

I have served you long, and have been long known to you personally and politically, and you have often honored me. While feeling duly sensible of the honors thus conferred upon me, and conscious of having discharged the duties of my position to the very best of my ability, and with an eye single to the best interests of my country, I feel confident in the result of the pending election.

HIS INAUGURATION

A Sketch of His Life

Upon the death of Gov. Tod. R Caldwell on Saturday last, Lieutenant Governor Curtis H. Brogden, of Wayne county, was notified by telegraph of this fact, and he immediately repaired to the seat of government, arriveing here Sunday afternoon on the Western bound train.

GOV. BROGDEN SAID

Fellow-Citizens:—By the lamented death of our worthy and eminent Governor, Tod R. Caldwell, the constitution devolves upon me the powers and duties of the office of Governor of North Carolina. And while I feel sensible of the great loss the State has sustained by the death of Governor Caldwell, and the responsibilities thus suddenly and unexpectedly imposed upon me by the Supreme Ruler of the

A Word from the Editor.

Ever since the 27th of June we have been prostrated by illness. For three weeks of that time we have been unable to read a paper, do any business or write a line for the NORTH CAROLINIAN. All the while a political campaign, in which we were deeply interested, has been waging, and with a bitterness almost unparalled in our history. The past week we have been gradually recovering and have gained strength sufficient to glance over our District exchanges. To our surprise we find that the Democratic editors and "bolting" canvassers are making us an especial target of attack and abuse. Actuated by the spirit of the savage Spaniards: "The Moor is lying prostrate, helpless; now 'tis safe to thrust our lances into him," they have acted in unison in their onslought. What courageous fellows they are! If our prognosis is not seriously at fault we will soon be strong enough to pay our respects to such of them as we may deem worthy of attention.

Reports have likewise reached us of certain performances on the rostrum which have called to our mind the Minstrel ditty:

> "I's got a bran new banjo,
> And you's got a big brass horn
> We now can make things lively
> Jus' so sho' as you is born."

At one place, as the performance begins, a graceful form, with face all wreathed in smiles, comes tripping on the platform, exhibiting all the suavity and politeness of an "Edenton lawyer." His instrument is the banjo, and he performs on the strings until the sweat pours down like rain drops and the audience disperses one by one! And the point he tries to make is

"Defeat Lev. Cobb and crush P. John."

On another platform a personage of different mien appears. Uncouth, reckless, audacious, he makes the impression "here comes an office seeking Virginia carpet-bagger." His instrument is the big brass horn, and his gutteral refrain, like that of the banjo performer, is

"Defeat Lev. Cobb and crush P. John."

If these minstrels amuse anybody let them go on. It don't disturb us. LEV. COBB is going to be re elected by a grand majority and P. JOHN will continue on in the performance of what he believes to be his duty, working fearlessly for the right as he understands it, and for the best interests of the great Party he assisted in founding and aided to build up while his traducers were all of them fighting on the "other side."

——This week we have been unable to write but little for our paper. As it is in competent hands under whose able management the cause is suffering no detriment, we the more willingly feel reconciled to wait for returning strength

THE EDITOR,

IN MEMORIAM.

It has been announced through the public press that Governor CALDWELL is dead. He has been a conspicuous fignre in the history of North Carolina for many years, and the news of his death was received with unfeigned regret throughout the entire State.

He was born in Burke County in 1818, and graduated at the University of North Carolina in 1840 with high honors. Immediately after his graduation he was admitted to the bar, and was a very successful practitioner as long as he continued in the profession. As a criminal lawyer Mr. CALDWELL was greatly the superior of his associates who practiced with him in the western courts.

Much of his life was devoted to politics. For several years he represented his native county in the House of Commons, and in 1850 he was elected to the State Senate. In 1848 he was one of the electors on the ticket with TAYLOR and FILLMORE. He was a devoted follower, and ardent admirer of Henry Clay, and was enthusiastic and zealous in his advocacy of the principles of the Whig party. At the commencement of the war he took a bold and decided stand for the Union, which he never ceased to hold in the utmost love and veneration. In 1868 he was appointed aid to W. W. HOLDEN, who was then Provisional Governor, and was sent to the State Convention held the same year. The Republican party elected him to the office of Lieutenant Governor in 1868. Being ex officio President of the Senate, he served in that capacity, & elicited the warmest approbation of both political parties by the impartiality, courtesy, and ability with which he discharged his duties. After the impeachment of Governor HOLDEN, Governer CALDWELL succeeded to the executive chair. In 1872 he was nominated as the Republican candidate for Governor on the first ballot, and was elected over Judge Merrimon the Democratic candidate, by several thousand majority, after the most exciting and arduous political contest ever held in the State.

Although taking such an active part in politics during the greater portion of his life, and surrounded by many bitter enemies, even calumny has never sullied the purity of his character with a stain. During the whole of his public career he was as far as possible removed from the demagogue, in the popular acceptation of the term. He was always earnest and decided in his convictions; was frank in their expression, and bold and fearless in their vindication. His firmness was so great as almost to partake of the nature of obstinacy, and his honesty was equal to his firmness.

It cannot be said that he was endowed with intellectual brilliancy, but if his life sent forth no sudden flashes of genius, it emitted a clear, steady ray of practical wisdom. As chief Executive of the State he sustained himself with dignity and credit, and notwithstanding the fact that some of the most illustrious names in our history are numbered among his predecessors, it is not too much to say that North Carolina has never had a better Governor. The people whom he loved and served, will ever hold him in grateful remembrance, and regard his death as a colossal misfortune. For wherever plain honesty is esteemed above glittering vice, blunt candor above urbane flattery, and pure patriotism above selfish interest, the name of TOD R. CALDWELL will occupy an exalted post of honor.

THE ECONOMY OF A RAILROAD.

Although the construction of railways in the country, has proceeded without especial reference to a general plan or national system, they, in their respective routes have followed the highways, from the interior toward the seaboard, marked out by the earlier limited commerce between distant points, as most convenient.

While the railway has reached to, across and beyond the "great interior basin" over numerous routes, and even to the Pacific coast, there are still very many portions of the country that are as little benefited by this instrument of modern progress as though it had never existed.

It is to our lines of railway that the wealth and commerce of the country, is chiefly indebted for its magnificent development, and yet only those portions of the country lying within 20 to 30 miles of the railways already built have felt a direct advantage. The belt of country benefited by a railroad is mainly limited to the extent over which its products can be transported on the ordinary highways with profit to the producer.

Beyoud these limits the commercial value of the products of the farm or mill decrease very rapidly in value; within these limits the values decrease in regular ratio as you recede from the center line to the outside limit of poofitable wagon transit.

The cost of transportation over ordinary country roads is estimated at 20 cents per ton, per mile, and from this it may be seen how rapidly distance from a line of railway reduces the value of the surplus products of the farm. The cost of the same by railroad is only one and one-fourth cents per ton, per mile—a difference so great that no community that desires prosperity can afford to be without a railroad.

By weight about 36 bushels of corn make a ton of 2000 pounds. The cost of hauling one ton or 36 bushels by wagon or cart a distance of 10 miles is (20 x 10 =$2,00 or,) 5½ cents per bushel. The reason for the difference in value of land and products, according to their distance from a railroad is very plain. The average distance of haulage within a five mile limit would be 2½ miles, and the cost per bushel on corn would be one cent and three mills per bushel, while the average haul over a ten mile limit from the railroad is seven and ½ half miles, and the average cost of haul would be four cents and one mill per bushel, Now suppose A living within two and a half miles of the railroad has 1000 bushels of corn to market, and B living seven and a half miles distant has the same amount. A could deliver his corn (1000 x 1,3=) $13; while it would cost B (1000 x 4,1= $41—a difference in favor of A of $28 on each 1000 bushels. Now we will suppose further, that the quality of land in each case is the same, and that to each thousand bushels produced each had under cultivation 20 acres of land. A 's land by his saving on haulage, would have netted him $28 more than B 's or $1,80 per acre for the land under cultivation, and $1,80 is equal to an annual interest of 7 per cent on $25,71, consequently A 's land is worth this much more than B 's. Land for farming purposes is worth, in proportion to the amount that can be made from it, above the expense of cultivation and cost of getting to market. If the price of the land of both A and B was now $20 per acre and by any improvement in marketing facilities A saves on his crop an amount equal to $1,80 per acre, his land is worth to him the increased value of the savings, or ($20 x $25,71 =) $45,71 while B 's remains at the old price of $20.

It can thus be readily understood why farming lands lying near a railroad is now valuable and will bring a higher price than lands of the same quality, but at a greater distance. It can also be very readily seen that in case of a tax being levied for a public improvement, like a railroad, that the tax falls upon each in proportion to the advantages derived.

We will suppose one of these counties to be taxed for the highest amount proposed by any one of them to the railroad, viz.: $40,000; the interest on this amount at 6 per cent amounts to $2,400 Of this tax the man owning land between the 5 mile and 10 mile limit would pay a proportion of less than one half as much tax as the land owner within a five mile limit, or the rate of about $4 for the more remote farmer to $9 by the one owning land near the railroad. And the same ratio would hold not only in reference to the tax, should there ever be one, for the railroad but for all other county and State tax. Assessments are made according to valuation, and taxes levied according to assessments.

To make this more plain we will suppose that the number of acres of land in this county was 125,000 of this there would be about 65000 within five miles of the railroad (it being about ten miles across the country) and 60000 beyond this limit; we will further suppose that the assessed value of the 65000 acres is $20 per acre and of the 60000 acres $10 per acre, including personal estates, amounting in the aggregate to $1,900,000 and that it was necessary to raise a tax amounting, for all purposes, to $20,000, which would be equal to $1,05 cents on the $100. Of this tax the land and property within five miles of the line would pay thirteen-nineteenths of the whole tax, while the more remote land would pay only six-nineteenths of the whole tax, or in other words the former would pay nearly $14,000 of the tax to a little more than $6,000 by the latter. So it will be readily seen that those who derive little or no benefit from the railroad will pay less tax than they now do; while those living nearer the road will pay more, but still nothing in comparison to the substantial advantages they will derive from it.

THE SECOND JUDICIAL DISTRICT.

The Republicans of the Second Judicial District have made and excellent nomination for Judge. Their candidate is Hon. LOUIS HILLIARD, of Greenville, Pitt county. He is a gentleman of high character and is a very able lawyer. We see that at a large Republican meeting held in Edgecombe he was called on for a speech. We copy from the proceedings of the Convention the following:

The Convention learning that our nominee for Judge of the 2nd Judicial District was in town, appointed a committee to wait upon him and request his personal presence in the Convention. In a short time the committee returned accompanied by the Hon. gentleman, who, after excusing himself from making a political speech, spoke as follows:

Gentelmen of the Convention:

You are aware of the fact that on the 9th day of May last, in the town of Williamston, I was nominated for the office of Judge of the 2nd Judicial District by a large and enthusiastic Convention of the Republican party of the District, with a unanimity rarely witnessed in a nominating Convention. I received 6.2-5 votes on the first ballot out of a vote of nine.

My political principles are well known to all who know me. I am a Republican after the straightest sect, and were I a candidate for a political office, it would afford me great pleasure to do now, as I have done in the past, defend and uphold on the stump and elsewhere, the glorious principles of that great party,—the party that has done so much toward freedom and reform, But I am a candidate for an office that I believe should be kept sacredly aloof from political discussions, and political eletioneering.

The Judge upon the bench, sits in judgement not only upon the property, but upon the lives and liberties of our people, and he should be careful to keep himself unbiassed and unprejudiced, so that he may hold the scales of justice evenly balanced.

The best of us are but human, and subject to all the infirmities of frail human nature. I can't see how one can engage actively in a hot political canvass for the office of Judge, and then go upon the bench and discharge its delicate and responsible duties in a manner that should characterize a thoroughly impartial Judge.

If I am elected,—which I am morally certain I will be,— it will be my earnest purpose so to discharge the duties of that high office as to reflect credit, not only upon myself, but upon the Republican party that placed me in nomination, and at the same time to secure the confidence and esteem of all good people.

I will take care that justice shall be meeted out with an even hand, alike to the rich and to the poor, to the white and to the colored. If the balance waver at all—and God grant that it may not—it shall be on the side of mercy, on the side of the poor, and friendless.

MAGNANIMITY.

The Democratic party has always laid claim not only to intelligence and a white skin, but also to magnanimity. As an evidence of the justice of its claim we refer to the attacks recently made upon Dr. John, by that exceedingly faint Echo of the party sentiment which issues from Washington N. C. As soon as that paper received the intelligence that Dr. John was dangerously ill, and unable to defend himself, it immediately began to array its forces; marshalled horse, foot and dragoons; raised the cry of onset, and assaulted him with all the valor of a Falstaff. Its weapons were culled from the disgusting armories of the celebrated Fish woman of literary history, JOSIAH TURNER Jr., and others, whose names have passed into proverbs of infamy, filth, and vulgarity. That it acted thus, and used such weapons is what was expected. It was doubtless obliged to do so. To act fairly and be tolerably decent might excite suspicion that the Editor was deficient in Democratic principles.

Well, the Echo has given us an exhibition of its bravery over a disabled foe. It remains to be seen whether its courage is of that character which oozes out at the finger's ends in the presence of real danger. Dr. John hopes and expects in a few days to be able to pay his respects to the gentlemen who have treated him with such characteristic generosity, and the sequel will show whether or not they wince under the stabs of his trenchant pen.

A FEW LIES NAILED.

It has been charged on the stump and elsewhere, that Hon. C. L. COBB wrote the Executive Committee at Raleigh, asking whether he ought to canvass the district. The statement is utterly false He never wrote a line to anyone, anywhere, on the subject. It has been charged that he was in Beaufort County, on Wednesday July 8th at Col. CARROWS, but was afraid to speak, and left at night. The truth is he did not leave Washington, D. C., until July the 11th. It has been charged that he was not sick when Major YEATES was in Washington. This is absolutely untrue. He was seriously ill with diptheria at the time, and the certificate of his attending physician and other credible persons can be obtained to that effect. The above denials are made by the authority of Mr. COBB. That such base falsehoods have been circulated about him, is conclusive proof, not only of the unscrupulous character of his enemies, but of their utter hopelessness in this contest. When they abandon in despair, not only argument but persuasion, and as a dernier resort manufacture downright LIES, and that too of such a flimsy kind as to be capable of the easiest possible refutation, they had as well throw up the sponge at once, and take their champion from the field.

A SHORT CHAPTER IN ORNITHOLOGY.

It is a notable peculiarity of Democratic Roosters that they always split their throats with crowing for victory, before the battle begins. Poor birds! They have learned by sad and repeated experience that if they omit that opportunity of uttering the voice of triumph, they must remain forever mute. For after the battle is over, it is ever their mournful fate to sneak dejectedly from the field, with drooping heads, trailing, tails, and other unmistakable evidences of defeat and humiliation. Two of these Roosters are now standing on the walls of the Washington Echo crowing lustily for YEATES. Their ancestors did a large amount of the same buisness for SEYMOUR, GREELEY MERRIMON BARNES and CARTER. It is well for their youthful progeny to follow in their wake. As we hear their shrill and courageous notes ringing through the District and mark their pompous attitude we indulge in a quiet smile. For we have seen the old Republican Chanticleer in battle, and know how these Democratic fledglings like their predecessors, will be vanquished by him on the 6th of August. On that day we shall see him ascend the hill of victory, and his loud clarion will resound from the gentle slopes of Martin to where the Atlantic dashes its crested billows on the coast of Dare.

Dr. EDWARD RANSOM, of Tyrrell, received the nomination of the Blair wing of the Radical Party at the Plymouth Convention.—Albemarle Times.

Is this as near the truth as you can get brother WINSTON? BLAIR and his friends are among the most earnest supporters of Hon. C. L. COBB in the District. The man you refer to was nominated by the "Ransom wing" of the party which, like a putrid excrescence, has finally sloughed off, and the party is more vigorous and healthy therefor.

Maj. YEATES is making a splendid canvass. It will make any man feel good to vote for him.—Albemarle Times.

What! make a man "feel good to vote for" a candidate that is sure to be beaten? Who ever heard tell of such nonsense.

CORRESPONDENCE

Cobb in Pitt.

GREENVILLE, N. C., July 15th 1874.

Hon. C. L. COBB arrived at this place on Monday night, to the great gratification of the Republicans, and corresponding consternation of the Democracy.

We had feared that, owing to his sickness, he would not be able to speak to our people. Notices were posted announcing him to speak at Bethel on yesterday, where he met a large crowd of Republicans and Democrats, who were anxious to hear his first speech of the canvass. On arriving upon the ground Mr. Cobb learned that Mr. T. J. Jarvis was present, and he immediately sought him out and invited him to participate in the speaking, but said nothing to him about the drubbing he was to receive, whichwas very cruel in Cobb!

Mr. Cobb led off in a speech of an hour and was listened to attentively by an interested audience. He began by saying that he was there to speak for himself. That in his absence, and during severe sickness which had kept him, until now, from the canvass, grave and serious charges against him had been generally circulated which he would clear away to the satisfaction of everyone present. He also intended to demonstrate that it was the bounden duty of every citizen who had the best interest of his country at heart, to support the Republican ticket. He then reviwed the history of the Democratic party while in power, showing its deformities, its inability to preserve the National credit, and its utter neglect of every great interest which concerned the people of the Nation, only rewarding the claims of party leaders; it had been wiped out of existence by the people, and the Republican party established in its place. During the rule of this latter party, a great war involving millions of money and thousands of lives, had been prosecuted to a successful issue, and to day, the Nation's honor and character, stood foremost among the peoples of the world, its credit the best of any country upon earth, its revenue largely in excess of its expenditures, and every citizen, native and naturalized, free and happy, and in possession of absolute liberty.

He then proceeded to notice what is known as the Civil Rights bill; his position upon this question, received hearty endorsement from both parties and races present; that while he could not favor what is commonly known as the Civil Rights bill, in all its features, still, an enforcement act, or a modified Civil Rights bill ought to be passed, in order to secure to the colored people, in several of the Southern States under the controll of the Democratic party, the same civil and political rights, which the colored people of North Carolina enjoy. He charged upon the Democratic party, an intention, as shown by the recent speeches of their leading men, to foment discord, trouble, and possibly, war between the two races; that their only purpose is to secure for themselves, the white vote in the coming election, and he proved by the record which he read, that two years ago this same party had planted itself squarely upon the Civil Rights platform, by supporting Horace Greeley, and that the Democratic party is the only party in the country to-day who desire mixed schools, mixed churches and social equality. He then called upon the colored people, who were present to say if they wished for these things, and they replied with an unanimous "no."

He then entered upon a full and elaborate explanation of the Salary Bill, declaring he had no apology to offer and no excuse to make, believing the salary of the Members of Congress to be inadequate, he had voted from a conscientious conviction of sight, to make it higher; the people, however, misled, as he thought, by the clamor of the newspaper press, to believe that measure improper, he had voted early in the present Congress, in accordance with their views. His argument upon this question was conclusive and convincing, and many who had opposed the increase of salary; expressed themselves as abundantly satisfied with the argument of Mr. Cobb. He then recapitulated what had been done by the way of appropriations for the first district, and closed with a peroration full of eloquence and fire.

Mr. Jarvis attempted to reply to this speech, but his efforts were impotent and lame, and he failed to give satisfaction to his Conservative friends. He floundered about for an hour and then sat down, to the evident relief of everybody. The impression was universal, that Jarvis wished he had not been there. This was a great day at Bethel, and one to be long remembered. Say to our friends in the Albemarle country, that Pitt county is not only a unit for Cobb, but will this time roll up for him a largely increased majority.

We have a most capital county ticket and will elect it by at least 1000 majority. They are doing their full duty in the cause of Republicanism.

Our nominee for judge, Louis Hilliard Esq., will carry the county over Judge Moore by 1500 majority. Both parties are satisfied with him.

Hon. C. L. Cobb in Washington County. A grand vindication and turnout.

To the Editor of the North Carolinian;

This has been a day long to be remembered in the ancals of the Republican party of Washington county. A very large political meeting was held at Lee's Mills in this county were speeches were made by the Hon. C. L. Cobb, the Republican candidate for Congress, Maj. L. C. Latham who represented Major Yeates and Dr. Ransom who represented himself,

Maj. Latham led off in a speech of an hour, coufined exclusively to an attack upon C. L. Cobb, without any reference to Dr. Ransom whatsoever.

Mr. Cobb in a very able manner replied to every charge made by Maj. Latham taking each one separately and explaining them and his entire course during his six years in Congress to the entire satisfaction of the entire audience. Many of our white Republicans had become demoralized by reason of the misrepresentations of Mr. Cobb circulated so industriously during his absence; his advent in our county and his overwhelming speech to-day burning with eloquence and fire, carrying conviction to every mind has created a degree of enthusiasm in his favor which has filled the Democracy with fear and dismay.

The speech of Dr. Ransom like that of Maj. Latham was directed against Mr. Cobb and neither of these gentlemen had aught to say against the other: "but our little Cobb" was equal to the occasion and was more than a match for both of his adversaries. He brings glowing accounts of the prospects in Pitt, Beaufort, Pamlico and Hyde.

We will not be content this time with less then 2500 majority for him, and if you will do your duty on your side of the sound we will more than do our duty on this.

In this connection it is proper to add that Maj. A. A. Crookston of Martin, one of our Senatorial cadidates has pulled off his coat rolled up his sleeves, and has undertaken, and will carry through a vigorous canvass of this district; we heard him to day for the first time in discussion with the old wheel horse of the Democracy, Charles Latham the democratic candidate, and he won golden opinions from the entire audience present, frank and honest democrats, admitted that his speech was replete with logic and good common sense, this being his first visit as a speech maker to our County the citizens were anxious to hear him and all went away abundantly satisfied.

Republican Convention in Hertford County.

The Republicans of Hertford County met in convention on Wednesday the 8th of July 1874, in the Court House at Winton; for the purpose of nominating a candidate for the House of Representatives, and candidates for the several county offices. The meeting was called to order by N. D. Newsom, temporary chairman. On motion of O. A. Giles W. D. Newsom was made permanent Chairman and D. D. Weaver Secretary. W. Newsom on accepting the honor conferred upon him, made a few remarks, explaining the object of the meeting, and advising peace and harmony in the Republican ranks. His remarks were received with much pleasure and applause, showing that they were fully endorsed by the convention.

On motion a committee of three was appointed to nominate candidates. Whereupon the roll of the townships was called a id found to be represented. The following are the delegates who were put on the nominating committee:

From Maney's Neck Township, Isaac Jordan, Jackson Jones Pompey Winborn; Harrelsville Township, Arthur Simons, Henry Sessoms, Nathan Sessoms; Murfresboro Township, H. C. Crosbey, W. Jones, Henry Southall; Winton Township, J. B. Bratt, D. E. Overton, J. A. Lasiter; St. John's Township, Richard Darden, Andrew Holomon and Jack Bizzle.

The committee retired and after much discussion recommended the following gentlemen as candidates for the offices:

For Representative, Solom Parker; For Sheriff, Isaac Pipkins; For Register, of Deeds; J. M. [illegible]; For Probate Judge, John Hare; For Treasurer, J. J. Horton; For Coroner, W. T. Liverman; For Surveyor, Zephaniah Brown; For County Commissioners, S. T. Snipes, S. D. Winborne, Rev. Wm. Reid, W. B. Alexander and D. E. Overton Each of the foregoing gentlemen were voted for separately and made unanimous by a vote of the House. After the whole ticket was made unanimous by a vote of the house speeches were made by Rev. L. W. Boon and others, after which on motion the meeting adjourned.

W. D. NEWSOM, Chairman.

D. D. WEAVER, Secretary.

Good News from Old Currituck.

CURRITUCK Co., July 16th 1874.

I can say that C. L. Cobb's nomination meets the approbation of every good Republican in Currituck Co., and that his majority over Yeates will be decidedly larger than any of his former competitors. Also the nomination of J. W. Albertson, and Willis Bagley for Judge and Solicitor of the 1st Judicial District of North Carolina will be sounded and the echo from Currituck to the terminus of the district will be heard and awake every disorganizer of the Republican Party. Our Senatorial nomination is as good as we can ask for. We as Republicans will support the regular nominees and none other.

Yours truly,

Free Masons Moving Eastward.

A Party of Fifty Master Masons, under the auspices of the Royal Solomon Mother Lodge, in the City of Jerusalem, will leave New York September 12th, 1874, and visit the Lands of the East, where the mystic rites are supposed to have had their origin. These gentlemen will be absent about five months, and arrangements are perfected by which the most extraordinary advantages will be secured them, at a comparative moderate cost. The Secretary of our local Lodge is prepared to answer all questions as to expense, &c.

REAL HEROISM.—An act of true heroism was recently performed by George Bellhymer, on Red River. While he was lying on the hurricane deck in handcuffs, for an alleged larceny, a little girl fell from the deck of the boat into Goose Rapids. Bellhymer immediately sprang overboard, swam to the girl, and after several attempts with his manacled hands succeeded in holding the child until a boat came to their rescue. The act was witnessed by scores of passengers, who signed a testimonial in his honor for the noble act.

Iron in the Blood

PERUVIAN AN IRON TONIC SYRUP

MAKES THE WEAK STRONG.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low state of the system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures, to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

THE DAILY GRAPHIC

The only Illustrated Daily Newspaper in the World.

With its issue for March 4, 1874, THE DAILY GRAPHIC entered upon the second year of a career phenomenal in the history of journalism. Its story of a twelvemonths has been a steady and unquestioned growth in popular acceptance as the most original, artistically luxurious, and wonderfully comprehensive metropolitan journal ever published in the United States.

As a brilliant novelty, the whole country has confessed its unique attraction; as a practical and marvellously complete Newspaper, it has become a daily necessity to the social and mercantile interests of one of the largest permanent constituencies ever attained by a journalistic enterprise in the same period, while its great specialty, beyond all actuality or hope of competition, as has been the wonder, delight, and new education of individuals and homes in every State of the Union. In the very idea of such utilization of the finest pictorial art, for every day's information and reflection, there is all the charm of a romance; and the realization of that idea, made visible in THE DAILY GRAPHIC, is a practical and ever-varying assimilation of the most fascinating Ornament with the commonest Use which never palls upon even the most pampered taste. From the first issue the successive multitude of its pictures has been a perfect study of mechanical and journalistic development; the inevitable early imperfections of artists and others, not yet thoroughly trained in the new process, disappearing steadily in an ever increasing accuracy and beauty of artistic effects. Indeed this very illustration, from day to day, of the Times, spirit of progress in Art, as well as in Events has been an added and piquant interest, which is yet to be maintained for the public by unending future "Graphic" improvements. Scarcely more, however, for its beautiful portraits, trenchant cartoons, vivid news-etching, and unequalled reproductions of the world's choicest works of art, than for its unrivalled attractions as has THE DAILY GRAPHIC been nationally recognized and popularly welcomed. Its genuine editorial independence, wide sweep of intelligence, ever-varying department of literary and personal interest, sparkling correspondence and pungent criticisms, make it as much a favorite in the sanctum of the great Western or Southern or Northern newspapers as in the counting-room and the family circle.

A SUPERB PICTORIAL MIRROR

OF

NEWS, SOCIETY, AND LITERATURE.

THE DAILY GRAPHIC is an Eight-page Paper, published every afternoon (three editions), in time for the early mails to all parts of the country.

THE DAILY GRAPHIC has a larger average circulation—more copies printed and sold each day—than any other evening paper in New York excepting only the [penny] News.

THE DAILY GRAPHIC is a great newspaper, as well as the only illustrated daily paper. It has special correspondents everywhere, and it has a larger staff of writers and news-gatherers than any other evening paper in New York.

THE DAILY GRAPHIC is preserved for binding by hundreds of its readers in city and country. The annual subscriber gets a Pictorial History of the Year, a volume of twenty-four hundred pages, constituting a valuable record of events and a graphic panoroma of our time and progress.

TERMS.

To Mail Subscriber..... .....$12 a year.

☞ New subscribers wishing to take THE DAILY GRAPHIC on trial, may send One Dollar and receive the paper four weeks. Local and Personal.

☞All Rechabites are requested to be present next Tuesday night, as the election of officers takes place at that time.

☞J. L. CHAMBERLAIN will address the people at Old Trap School House, on Tuesday the 5th of August. Speaking to commence at 3 o'clock P. M.

☞We have received letters from numerous Republicans of Hyde and Dare counties urging the nomination of JOHN J. MCGOWEN Esq as Senator in the second District.

☞A leading Republican from Hyde County writes us saying: "This County is solid for COBB. The "bolting" candidate will not get a single Republican vote in Hyde."

☞Through the untiring efforts of Mr. COBB, Mr. HILL of Beaufort Co. has been appointed marshall for the Eastern District of N. C. Another man's name had been sent in to the Senate, but at the solicitation of Mr. COBB the president withdrew it.

☞It affords us pleasure to announce that the independent Republican candidates in Bertie and Washington counties, have withdrawn, and that the party will rally as one man to the support of the Regular Nominees. Our organization is complete. Let Democracy and Ku Kluxism tremble.

☞Circulars have been distributed in Dare Co., to the effect that Hon. C. L. COBB, Major J. J. YEATES and Dr. E. RANSOM will speak at Nags Head on the 29th of July. Mr. C. L. COBB will not speak there on that day. This is a trick by Democrats, to call out a large crowd to hear their two speakers.

☞Republicans! keep up your organization, and secure an overwhelming majority over YEATES, by voting solidly for C. L. COBB. RANSOM knows he will not get 300 votes in the district. His only purpose is to elect a Democrat to congress, and defeat the regular Republican nominee.

☞As announced in our last issue J. W. HALSTERD Esq the Republican candidate for the Legislature in Camden county was severely injured by being thrown from his buggy. As this accident will make it impossible for him to make a personal canvass his friends should make themselves the more active. He ought to be elected and he can be if the proper efforts are made.

☞A corrispondent informs us that Hon. C. L. COBB spoke to a large audience at Lee's Mill Washington Co. on the 17th inst. Mr. YEATES was not present. He was represented by Major L. C LATHAM who was "literally skinned" by our candidate. What can be the matter? Is YEATES afraid to meet COBB, that he sends LATHAM around with him, and goes off himself another direction?

☞How gently and kindly, aye and how caressingly the Democratic papers of the District allude to the "bolting" candidate for Congress. Ah how delightful it is to see brethren dwelling together in harmony! and how natural for "birds of feather to flock together,"

"Good Dr. Ransom, a welcome to you You're now serving us faithful and true."

The city of Chicago has been scourged by another terrible fire. On the 14th inst a fire broke out in a tenant building occupied by Polanders who it is believed set it on fire to recover the insurance on their furniture &c. The fire soon became a conflagration and spread until twenty-five blocks of the city were in ashes.

☞Our correspondent "C" writes us saying:

I am much surprised at the amount of personal abuse Mr. EURE crowds into his advertisement. I do not care to reply to it. I desired only to contrast the action of the lawyers in 1869 with their action now on the Judiciary. I was not thinking of attacking their private character, but simply to comment on their public action, a distinction which they studiously ignore. Their whole course since the war has been to personally attack Republicans, trusting to their superior numbers to domineer over us. It is done by design.

It is but just to the Editor to say that he was too ill to carefully read the communication of "C" or the card of MR. EURE. He deeply regrets that any feeling should have been engendered.

☞When Mr. COBB was lying prostrate in Washington the Democrats and Bolters of this District were jubilant For once they thought they had their own way. They opened up a campaign of malicious innuendo, brazen misrepresentations and reckless slander. Oh how brave and couragous they were! But lo! the sick man recovers, puts on his armor and comes before the people, not only to vindicate himself but to gallantly uphold the standard committed to his hands. And to the utter confusion of his enemies he is doing both ably, manfully, successfully. Whenever he appears he not only rallies all his old friends, inspiring them with renewed enthusiasm, but is making hosts of new ones. With a record pure and spotless, he is ready everywhere and upon all occasions to meet every issue and perform every duty. The attacks of his enemies are now recoiling upon themselves.

☞A correspondent from Beaufort county writes; "It is believed that RANSOM will carrie two votes in this county.

☞One of our amiable old Croakers went out on the Ferry road a few days ago and after carefully adjusting his glasses, took a peep down the long avenue cut through the swamp for the railroad. He took off his spectacles and exclaimed. "It ain't so: I won't believe it! and if they do, I know when them fellows get a hole cut through from the city to the river, they will carry it off to WALL Street and sell it."

☞We have seen a letter from a gentleman in Bertie, stating that YEATES and his ally RANSOM spoke in that county last week. After the speeches RANSOM left, and YEATES said he had gone over the sound to meet COBB. These gentlemen manifest a wonderfully intimate acquaintance with each other's projects and intentions. Is there not some reason for the suspicion that they are combining together against COBB?

☞The Civil Rights Bill is somewhat ambiguous in form, and different constructions are placed upon it by different persons. While the uncertainty exists, no man who looks to reason and not to prejudice to vindicate his opinions, will say in monosyllables without explanation that he is either in favorof or opposed to it. No Republican hesitates to say that if it means a mixture of the races in any manner or form he is uncompromisingly opposed to it. But on the other hand, if it means simply that the colored man shall have justice in hotels &c and not be charged as much as a white man unless he receives as good accommodations, every Republican is in favor of it. Upon a plain, clear question about which there is no doubt in the minds of anybody we can define our position plainly, and that it seems is all any honest man can desire. But the Democrats imagine themselves very astute, and endeavor to take advantage of the two constructions put upon it by forcing us to answer "yes" or "no," & no more to the question are you in favor of the Civil Rights Bill? If we say "yes" they will take one construction and tell white men we are in favor of amalgamation. If we say "no" they will take the other and tell colored men we oppose their rights. This is one of their little tricks to entrap votes from the unwary. It is really a pity that everybody understands it.

☞In his speeches throughout the District, AUGUSTUS M. MOORE Esq., has taken occasion to criticise in severe terms, Mr. COBB's course in procuring Winton to be made a port of entry, and has charged that it was done for the sole purpose of giving one of his friends an office. Mr. COBB has now in his possession a letter from Mr. MOORE in which he says: "Winton is in the district, and I am informed by Capt. MANNING that vessels go up the river and return without showing manifests, or at least there is no one on the river to examine &c. Besides, the Str. from Franklin to Murfreesboro touches there, and the trade is large and increasing. He will recommend putting an officer there and deputy. He informs me also that Col. Ayers recommended the same thing—I think you will have no difficulty in the matter, and trust it can be done at once. If any blanks &c. are necessary enclose them to me and I will have them acted on at once." This letter is dated Sept. 25, 1872, and can be produced, if it is desired. It will be seen that Mr. MOORE approved of making Winton a Port of Entry, and was urgent that it should be done at once. Since he was defeated for the nomination his views on the subject have changed.

Rich without Money.

Many a man is rich without money. Thousands of men with nothing in their pockets are rich. A man born with a good sound constitution, a good stomach, a good heart, good limbs, and a pretty good head piece is rich. Good bones are better than gold; tough muscles better than silver; and nerves that flash fire and carry energy to every function are better than houses or land. It is better than a landed estate to have the right kind of a father or mother. Good breeds and bad breeds exist among men as really as among herds and horses. Education may do much to check bad tendencies or to develope good ones; but it is a greater thing to inherit the right proportion of faculties to start with. The man is rich who has a good disposition—who is naturally kind, patient, cheerful and hopeful.

The experiment of tea growing in California is said to promise success. The climate of a large part of the tea district of China finds a parallel in that of the central Southern states why Hyson and Bohea should not come from cotton and rice fields. The necessity for ocean transportation would be done away with, and the native fragrance of the leaf would thus be preserved.

A BRILLIANT RECORD OF CURES.—An American humorist tells us that it would have been money in his pocket if he had been born without a stomach, and then tproceeds to figure up the cost of a chronic dyspepsia, to which he is a martyr, and which he says it is impossible to cure. On this point, Josh Billings, for he is the party referred to, is mistaken. Unless his stomach differs from all other dyspeptic stomachs Hostetter's Bitters will cure him in less than three months. This it would be safe to guarantee under any penalty. There are a few, a very few, actual specifics for disease in existence, and Hostetter's Stomach Bitters may be set down as one of them. In cases of indigestion it never fails. Persons who had suffered for many years almost every conceivable species of torture from this agonizing complaint, have been permanently cured with the Bitters in six weeks. Hundreds of such instances are on record, authenticated by the testimony of prominent men in every walk of life, eminent physicians among the number. But this celebrated vegetable preparation is something more than a stomach and tonic. It is also an alterative of wonderful virtue In liver complaint its effect is as direct and immediate as that of calomel or blue pill, and for more salutary and in all diseased conditions of the bowels, notably in cases of constipation, its regulating properties are in the highest degree serviceable. The new settlements in the west and all low-lying tracts of country infested with miasmatic exhalations, so fruitful at this season of the various types of intermittent fevers, should be always well stocked with this incomparable remedy which will cure any case of fever and ague in a period varying from three days to three or four weeks, according to the violence of the complaint. Nervous disorders which are always aggravated by the adulterated liquors usually prescribed by physicians, are readily cured by a course of this admirable combination medicine in which the properties of a stimulant, a tonic and laxative are happily blended.

Having purchased Winner's Gallery I take this method of announcing to my friends and the public that I will continue the business in all its departments. Having had over a dozen years experience I flatter myself to be able to give full satisfaction. My instruments and material are all of the very best. My sky light is of the latest improved, enabling me to take pictures in cloudy weather as well as clear. All work guaranteed or the picture taken over or the money refunded.

VINEGAR BITTERS

VEGETABLE FREE FROM ALCOHOL

PURELY CALIFORNIA

DR. WALKER'S

EUREKA

VINEGAR BITTERS

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, in Bilious Diseases.

If men will enjoy good health, let them use VINEGAR BITTERS as a medicine, and avoid the use of alcoholic stimulants in every form.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc., etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ringworms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics, will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Jaundice.—In all cases of jaundice, rest assured that your liver is not doing its work. The only sensible treatment is to promote the secretion of the bile and favor its removal. For this purpose use VINEGAR BITTERS.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE.

OF VALUABLE

NORTH CAROLINA LANDS,

FOR SALE BY

GEORGE D. POOL.

Real Estate Agent,

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C.

In presenting my list of lands and other properties for sale, I would say that no section of the United States offers such inducements for capitalists and emigrants, as this section of North Carolina. In longevity and healthfulness, it will compare favorably with any where; and in easy and cheap transportation of products to market, in pleasantness of climate, in the sociability of the people, in great fertility and durability of soil, no section can compete.

A railroad will soon be built to Norfolk, putting this place in direct communication by Rail, with the whole United States. This, together with our great fishing, farming and manufacturing interests, and certain early completion of already projected works of improvement for putting in nearer, cheaper and easier communication with the Ocean, will render this one of the most important commercial, and manufacturing points on the Southern country.

A desirable house and lot in the town of Elizabeth City on the corner of two principal streets, the principal one, and situated in the best business locality in the town. The lot contains about two acres of land, and the buildings consist of a fair dwelling three stories high, containing eight rooms, all in good order, another two story building with four rooms and pantries, dairy, smokehouses, stables, &c. The dwelling has a good cellar under it. There is room on the front lot to erect two good stores, and they would occupy the best stand in the town for merchandize.

A farm of 700 acres in Pasquotank County 10 miles from town, with fine two story dwelling, large barn, kitchen and other outhouses; as also, two other dwellings. barns and other houses at different points on the farm. This farm is all cleared but 150 acres, is free from swamps and other waste land, and is well adapted to raising corn, wheat, cotton, oats, &c. The price is 14,000 in easy payments.

A farm of 500 acres in Pasquotank County, 6 miles from town, and one mile from the River, with good new dwelling built in modern style, barn, stables, four tenant houses scattered over the farm, fine water, &c. This farm is situated on the most public road in the County, has 300 acres cleared and balance in splendid pine, oak, cypress, maple, sweet gum, and other valuable timber. It is peculiarly adapted to raising cotton, $50 per acre, net, having been realized on a part of it this year in cotton. It also grows corn, wheat, oats, and other crops well. Price $12,000 in easy payments.

Two tracts of land lying on Pasquotank River four miles from town, neatly cleared, and in good cultivation, one contains 1,000 acres, and the other 600 acres. Both have good fisheries. and the land is equal to any in this section. Price $20.00 per acre in easy payments. Also several smaller tracts for sale, ranging from 50 to 100 acres each, at low prices, and on easy terms.

Also two fine farms in Pasquotauk county, 10 miles from E. City, within half mile of church. school house and post office. One tract contains about 400 acres, with fair buildings and mostly cleared, and the other contains 300 acres, with good two story dwelling, large barn, and other outhouses, both are offered at $20 per acre, one third cash, balance in one and two years.

Three farms—one of 100 acres, one of 80 acres and one of 190 acres, within two miles of town, mostly cleared land. Price $20 per acre for each tract—payments on easy terms. Also many other valuable farms and town lots too numerous to mention.

STRONG AND PURE BLOOD—INCREASE OF FLESH AND WEIGHT—CLEAR SKIN AND BEAUTIFUL COMPLEXIONS SECURED TO ALL.

Sarsaparillian Resolvent

THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER.

HAS MADE THE MOST ASTONISHING CURES; SO QUICK, SO RAPID ARE THE CHANGES, THE BODY BECOMES FLOODED, UNDER THE INFLUENCE OF THIS TRULY WONDERFUL MEDICINE, THAT

Every Day an Increase in Flesh and Weight is Seen and Felt.

Every drop of the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT communicates through the Blood, Sweat, Urine, and other Fluids and juices of the system the vigor of life, for it repairs the wastes of the body with new and sound material. Scrofula, Syphilis, Consumption, Glandular disease, Ulcers in the Throat, Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the Glands and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Strumorous discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin diseases, Eruptions, Fever Sores, Scald Head, Ring Worm, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Acne, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancer in the Womb, and all weakening and painful discharges, Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm and all wastes of the life principle, are within the curative range of this wonder of Modern Chemistry, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of disease its potent power to cure them.

If the patient, daily becoming reduced by the wastes and decomposition that is continually progressing, succeeds in arresting these wastes, and repairs the same with new material made from healthy blood—and this the SARSAPARILLIAN will and does secure—a cure is certain; for when once this remedy commences its work of purification, and succeeds in diminishing the loss of wastes, its repairs will be rapid, and every day the patient will feel himself growing better and stronger, the food digesting better, appetite improving, and flesh and weight increasing.

Not only does the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT excel all known remedial agents in the cure of Chronic, Scrofulous, Constitutional, and Skin diseases; but it is the only positive cure for

Kidney & Bladder Complaints,

Urinary and Womb diseases, Gravel, Diabetes, Dropsy, Stoppage of Water, Incontinence of Urine, Brights Disease, Albuminuria, and in all cases where there are brick dust deposits, or the water is thick, cloudy, mixed with substances like the white of an egg, or threads like white silk, or there is a morbid, dark, bilious appearance, and white, bone-dust deposits, and when there is a pricking, burning sensation when passing water, and pain in the Small of the Back and along the Loins.

Tumor of 12 Years' Growth Cured by Radway's Resolvent.

The Saturday Evening Post.

The Oldest and Best Story Paper Published.

Founded August 4th, A. D. 1821.

For more than half century the SATURDAY EVENING POST has been the

of the Country, and has ever born a widespread and unblemished reputation for the unsurpassed purity, refinement and excellence of the Serials, Sketches and Miscellaneous reading matter.

It is pre-eminently

that is published in this county, from its never containing anything that would offend the feelings of any one, either in a religious or political sense, or that could not be read at any fireside without objection from the most fastidious.

The circulation of the Saturday Evening Post, though not quite so large perhaps, as its younger contemporaries, is not, like that of some of them, fluctuating. and too often short lived, but based upon the intrinsic merit of the paper itself, and not dependent on any extraneous influences, such as the popularity of individual writers, &c.

Good, however, as the Saturday Evening Post has been in the past, it is our intention to make it still better in the future, and with this object in view we will effect a marked improvement in every department of the paper and will call to our assistance writers of admitted ability and known reputation.

By increasing its former attractions, and adding many judicious and pleasing novelties by studying how to please and cultivate the popular taste, by increasing industry and enterprise, and by enlarged facilities, we hope to make new friends with each and every issue, and continue to maintain the claim of the Saturday Evening Post to its title of The Oldest and the Best of Family Story Papers.

You've heard about the great balloon,
In which Professor Wise
Proposed to go to Europe,
By sailing through the skies,
He proposed to show the people
A quicker way for trips
Than ever had been known before,
By sailing o'er in ship.

Well everything seemed lovely
Upon that Autumn day,
When they began to pump in gas
To bear the barge away.
They pumped and pumped with all their power,
And things seemed nigh adjusted—
When there came an awful crash,
And the mighth bubble busted.

It's ever thus in human life,
Go whereso'er we may,
The darkest night will oft succeed
The brightest, sunniest day,
There are exceptions to this rule,
Where all the days are fair,—
For one, go down to JOHNSON HALL,
You'll find things all right there.

We've thought it best in cases like this,
This little fact to mention;
You need not ferr that they'll inflate
Beyond their power of retention.
And when they undertake to go
Their geer's so well adjusted,
They'll move straigh forward to their work,
With no fear of being "busted."
